

TELL ROTARIANS OF ORIENT TRIPS

Fletcher S. Brockman, Y. M. C. A. Worker, Club Luncheon Speaker.

COAL IS PLENTIFUL

Traveler Tells Club That in One Province China Has Enough for World.

Fletcher S. Brockman, former international secretary of the Young Men's Christian association in China, entertained the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon at Hotel Tulsa yesterday noon with an interesting account of his experiences and impressions in the far east.

Mr. Brockman was struck by the almost phenomenal change that has taken place in Japan and China during the past five years. He again visited the orient the latter part of last year, returning to the United States only a few weeks ago. The same condition is true in China, where only a few American passengers to be found on orient-bound steamers. Lately, the steamers are almost crowded with Americans. The same condition is true in China, where only a few American passengers to be found on orient-bound steamers. Lately, the steamers are almost crowded with Americans. The same condition is true in China, where only a few American passengers to be found on orient-bound steamers. Lately, the steamers are almost crowded with Americans.

There is enough coal in one province alone, he said, to supply the entire world for a thousand years. This coal can be seen cropping out of the ground and is selling for $1 a ton.

The speaker declared that the Chinese Y. M. C. A. is already a predominant figure in the national life of that country. The association retains its non-political aspect, and its influence is mostly directed at the educational life of the nation.

It has become a permanent factor in determining the course of the nation, both educationally and religiously. A number of Chinese leaders, according to Mr. Brockman, have admitted the religion represents the salvation of their nation, and that the Y. M. C. A. is one of the institutions that is supplying this need.

Mr. Brockman is closely associated with John R. Mott and other leaders of the Y. M. C. A. movement in America. Tulsa is the fourth city in which he has spoken since his return from the orient.

The private dining room of Hotel Tulsa was crowded, many visitors from other civic organizations being present.

Despite Wage Increase Dan Cupid Carries Off Fair P. Q. Clerks Here

Increase in salary granted postal employees has seemingly had no effect on the matrimonial peace of young women clerks in the local postoffice, according to John H. McFie, superintendent of mails, for the third young woman to resign during the past few weeks "made good" yesterday and announced her approaching marriage. "I suppose that the salary increase will prove encouraging to unmarried men in the postal service," Mr. McFie said.

Postoffice alterations put under way yesterday were the leaving down of the wall between the workroom and the office of the assistant postmaster in preparation for the enlargement of the latter. Because of the delayed shipments of material the general alterations are not proceeding as rapidly as would otherwise be possible.

Negro Waives Preliminary.
Harry Totton, a negro accused of stealing an express package in this city June 2, waived preliminary when his case was called for trial yesterday before C. L. Yancey, United States commissioner, and was committed to jail under bond of $1,000 for action of the federal grand jury. The information alleges the negro stole the package, valued at $145 from the local office of the American Express company.

Held on Narcotic Charge.
Arrested in Bartlesville June 6 in possession of narcotics, Harry Gilbert entered a plea of not guilty at his arraignment before C. L. Yancey, United States commissioner. The defendant was committed to jail in default of $2,000 bond for preliminary hearing on the charge June 11.

USE PRISONERS ON A SAND PILE

City Makes Arrangements to Let 'Jailbirds' Become Useful.

There are methods other than fines and imprisonment for causing bad men to become good. These methods appear to temporarily but not permanently stop the unenviable careers of certain denizens of the underworld, but as soon as their fine is paid and their prison sentence served in a fairly comfortable jail, they return to their former haunts and to their favorite pastimes which were rarely broken up by paying police.

The city intends to try something new. Police Commissioner J. M. Adkinson said yesterday. Making little rocks from big ones is too easy. Besides, Tulsa has no official rock pile on which prisoners in the city jail may wield sledge hammers.

In Tulsa it is to be a sand pile. The city is making arrangements with a sand contractor who operates near Sand Springs, so he may use city prisoners as shovellers and thus let them help pay their fines and make themselves useful.

Commissioner Adkinson believes a few days shoveling sand under a sizzling sun which induces copious perspiration on shovellers and tans their arms and backs and faces will help materially in keeping the city jail empty and causing undesirable to hunt cities that do not use them on sand piles.

ARMY ENTERTAINS LEGION

New Citadel Is Scene of Meeting of Ex-Service Men Last Night.

Doughnuts in a mode and coffee with thick cream are good. Are they? More than 100 members of the American Legion said so last night when they were being entertained by the Salvation Army at the new citadel on West Second.

All the officers of Joe Carson post and H. H. Hagen, state commander, were present. Following a peppery program which was enlivened by music, the "Army lancers" served the doughnuts topped with ice cream and nuts and accompanied by hot steaming coffee. Every man present showed his appreciation by asking for a second helping. A vote of thanks was extended by the members present to the Salvation Army. Following a tour of the citadel the meeting adjourned.

CITY CAN'T SELL WOODWARD PARK

Permanent Injunction Is Granted Against Plan of City Officials.

Permanently enjoining the city commissioners and the park board of the city of Tulsa from selling or in any way disposing of any part of Woodward park in the southeast part of the city, an order was made in district court yesterday morning in the suit of Carolina D. King against the city.

The former democratic administration a few weeks before the election by which they were removed from office, acting with the park board, made preparation to sell part of the park. Mrs. King, owner of property in the vicinity of the park, noticed and obtained a temporary restraining order on the ground that should such action be taken by the city commissioners the entire 31 acres would revert to the Woodward estate. At the hearing yesterday before Judge Owen the permanent injunction was granted, forever barring the city commissioners from selling any part of the park property.

Wheat Harvest Begins on Tulsa County Farm

The wheat harvest in Tulsa county started this week. Harvesters were busy yesterday on Oscar Howard's tract of land between West

Tulsa and Red Fork, bordering the hard-surfaced highway. While no accurate figures can be given, the harvesters on this land predict a better-than-ordinary crop. As the stand is fairly thick and the heads of good size, harvesting will be in full blast over the county within the next week.
